SHS SENIOR CLASS SHOWS THEIR SPIRIT – Southampton High School’s class of 2019 has shown their spirit during homecoming week. The class of 2019 has shown up year after year with Indian Pride and spirit. They started off their senior year by electing a leadership group of class officers. Serving the senior class are Donta Chisolm and Tyonte Williams as co-presidents, Zharia Phillips as vice president, Alyshia Hill as treasurer, Thaja Carr as secretary, and Dara Keffer as Parliamentarian. Mrs. Rita Yeary and Mrs. Millie Gardner, senior class advisors, guide the officers and senior student body. Serving the Student Government Association are Emma McClelland as president, Madeline Burgess as vice president, Julia Brooks as treasurer, Allie Hudgins as secretary and Jacey Bunn as Parliamentarian. Mrs. Melissa Edwards and Mrs. Renee Markivich, SGA advisors, guide the officers as they create and work Homecoming week. During the exciting homecoming week, each day a large majority of seniors participated as a group in a theme for that spirit day. On FANatic FAN Monday, the senior class came together to be a FAN of America, all dressed in red, white and blue. Dara Keffer, class officer, served as the Statue of Liberty for the group. Southampton High School seniors have honored this long tradition with a spirited week!

SHS PEP RALLY – SHS was filled with spirit as students celebrated homecoming. Students came dressed in their red and white on October 19th to add spirit for their afternoon pep rally. Ran by the senior SGA officers, the pep rally became a huge competition between grades to see who really was the most spirited. The P.R.I.D.E of Southampton filled the hallway with the echoing drums as they entered the gym. In formation, they had the student body swaying as they played some of their upbeat songs. The student elected homecoming court was introduced in front of the entire student body and then sat by their grade to lead them in the spirit chants. The biggest competition was between the senior and junior class as they brought out surprise after surprise showing their “Indian Pride” for the spirit stick. The seniors rushed the floor with music and confetti cannons; their efforts were met by the junior class circling the gym in blow up costumes as junior signs dropped from the mezzanine. The class of 2019 won the spirit stick in a close race, after beating the juniors in an annual game of skin the snake. Cheerleaders ended the event with some of their best routines, helping the students carry the spirit on into the evening at the homecoming football game.

SHS LIBRARY NOW HAS MAKERSPACE – The library at SHS now offers a makerspace for students. This area is made to give students STEM educational activities and programs. The variety of technology and activities foster creativity, creative problem solving, innovation, technology literacy, collaboration with peers and authentic preparation for the real world by simulating real-world challenges for students. Through grants and the dedication and leadership of SHS librarian Alaina Crowder, students have had a great time learning in the makerspace. The MakerZone Club allows students to come work with guided challenges and freestyle activities with the makerspace. Students can come collaborate and experiment with the new technology and building tools during student success time twice a week. Teachers are incorporating the makerspace into their lessons allowing students to use technology through core subject areas. Mr. Jason McHenry incorporated the podcaster and green screen into his world history lesson. The makerspace currently features a 3D printer and pens for design, Ozobots, Sphero, and Rasberry Pi for programming and many kits for building and problem solving. The makerspace continues to grow and has students engaged in learning skills such as coding, design, engineering, robotics, and media creating.

RUSH WEEK AT SHS – The second week of school at SHS had club officers and advisers setting up for the anticipated Rush Week. Rush Week is the time for new and returning students to sign up for different clubs and activities. It is the perfect time for freshman students to sign up for clubs that suit their interests. Every year during Rush Week, students stand behind a display their club made to advertise. On each poster, display board or interactive set-up are pictures, information on activities that the clubs have done and events they have attended. There are many different types of clubs/activities including: core subjects, sports, academics, technology, and art. Each club/activity has its own sponsor to work with the students and represent the organization at all events.

HURRICANE FLO BINGO – Due to hurricane Florence, Rush Week was cut short. Thanks to a twitter BINGO game called Hurricane Flo Bingo students were able to play along with peers and club advisers while staying busy and sharing through social media. Students shared hurricane information as it was posted and took pictures of what they were reading; athletes posted their workouts and everyone had a good time rushing to get BINGO! This game was helped keep the spirit of Rush Week at SHS alive! All students that completed #scpsshurricanefloBINGO were put in a drawing and three lucky students won prizes!

MARCHING INDIANS BAND – The P.R.I.D.E. of Southampton has been a force to be reckoned with this season! Our band program has performed in two competitions thus far and have received numerous awards.
